

SOSLAND
Food Safety Monitor

LEADERBOARD

July 26, 2016

forward | subscribe | advertise

Inspector general: F.D.A. lacks 'efficient and effective' recall process

New audit brings into question the agency's reaction time on food safety matters.

Flour recall extends to Kellogg snacks and cookies

Company cites potential presence of an undeclared peanut residue.

C.D.C.: General Mills' K.C. facility 'likely source' of outbreak

But company says E. coli O121 has not been found in any General Mills flour products or in the manufacturing facility.

MEDIUM
REC

SPONSORED TEXT

Undeclared allergens emerging as a leading food safety issue

In 2014, undeclared allergens made up 47% of Reportable Food Registry reports followed by Salmonella at 24.9% and Listeria at 19%.

Rold Gold latest products affected by flour recall

Grain Craft offers background information recent series of recalls.

update your account | forward | subscribe | unsubscribe

To ensure delivery to your inbox, add foodbusiness_news@email-sosland.com to your address book or safe sender list.

Advertising | Legal | Feedback
©2016 Sosland Publishing Co.
4801 Main Street, Suite 650
Kansas City, MO 64112
(800) 338-6201